

NEW MOON: Stargazer series, this piece explores the contrast between bright white and soft red-pink tones against deep, dark cards. The dark background evokes the clear, unpolluted night sky visible during a new moon, when the stars shine at their brightest.

Michał Markowski is a West London-based artist fascinated by mathematics, chaos, and chance.

His work explores the invisible patterns hidden in randomness. He takes a premium deck of playing cards, shuffles it thoroughly while recording the process to prove the authenticity of the unique outcome, and meticulously hand-assembles every card onto A1 canvas — permanently freezing one unrepeatably moment in time.

Drawing on the immense mathematics of  $52!$  permutations, he creates bold, textured artworks that celebrate both chaos and order. Each piece is completely original and exists in only one version in the entire world.
